Hope To Avert Strike

Seizure of Telephone Industry Held Legal

(By Associated Press)
Unions in communications fields affecting the business and personal life of most Americans have threatened to strike as a result of unsettled disputes with subsidiaries of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company.

In addition, the Radio Writers Guild (independent) will vote Monday and Tuesday on proposed strike action against the major radio networks.

Top development in the telephone crisis, with the strike deadline set for 5 a. m. (EST) Monday was a statement today by Attorney General Tom Clark that President Truman has the legal power to seize the telephone industry.

The President said yesterday that he was examining the matter to see whether he had the power to do so.

Clark based his opinion on the Federal Communications act, which he said was based on the war emergency and would continue until six months after the official "termination of the war."

Would Obey Seizure

John J. Moran, chairman of the National Federation of Telephone Workers (independent) policy committee, said yesterday that the unions would obey a legal seizure, although he doubted whether such legal authority existed.

Union and company officials continued meetings in Washington and at other scattered points in the nation today, but little or no progress was reported by the various mediators.

The strike threat to Western Union came with the filing of a 30-day strike notice by the Commercial Telegraphers union (AFL) on behalf of its 50,000 members employed by the company. The action followed what a union spokesman termed "the complete collapse of collective bargaining."

The CTU contract with Western Union expired April 1 and was extended to July 1 to permit further negotiations. Jesse A. Payne, CTU president, said a 30-day cancellation clause would permit the union to call a strike any time after May 3.

Would Be Nation-Wide

The strike would disrupt Western Union service throughout the nation, with the possible exception of the New York metropolitan area, where the American Communications (CIO) represents a majority of Western Union employees. The ACA has on other occasions, however, refused to pass CTU picket lines.

The radio writers' strike vote, which might result in keeping many top radio programs off the air, will be conducted in New York and Hollywood Monday night and in Chicago on Tuesday.

A union spokesman said the action was being taken because the networks and independent stations refused to negotiate a minimum basic agreement on wages and working conditions for 1,700 free lance writers in the guild.

The spokesman said about 300 other guild members are covered by staff contracts with the three major networks.

BIG 4 PARLEY IS STALEMATED

Group Working On German problem Adjourns Until Tomorrow

MOSCOW, April 4.—The Council of Foreign Ministers meeting scheduled for tonight was cancelled today when a special committee working on an agenda for German political principles bogged down and failed to reach an agreement.

The committee will try to get out of the snarl in time for the council to take up its report tomorrow at 4 p. m. (8 a. m., Eastern Standard time).

The council meeting had been scheduled today for 6 p. m., two hours later than usual, in order to give the committee more time to work on its report.

Deputy foreign ministers working on the Austria treaty also made little progress in their efforts to reach an agreement on remaining treaty clauses.

All four deputies agreed that German assets taken over as reparations in Austria should be subject to Austrian law, but the Russians insisted on guarantees against "alienation" of such properties by Austria and this produced a stalemate.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Senator George (D-Ga.) said today the United States must act "to check Russian expansion now" through financial and limited military aid to Greece and Turkey or see the Soviets "overrun Europe."

Rains May Clear By Easter Sunday

(By Associated Press)
Even though much of the country was covered by rain today, the little woman probably won't have to put on her old gray bonnet for Easter.

A widespread storm area which developed today over the central plains states was moving northeastward, but prospects were that it would blow itself out in the St. Lawrence valley by Saturday night, leaving cool but pleasant weather in its wake.

The storm was headed toward the upper Great Lakes region this morning, producing general and quite heavy rains in a wide belt across the lower Ohio and central and upper Mississippi valleys, and in the Lake Michigan area.

The U. S. Weather bureau at Chicago said prospects for rather good Easter weather were enhanced by the storm's striking now, since it would leave calm weather in its wake.

Much of the North Central and Northeastern sections of the country will be fairly cold Easter morning, but moderate temperatures were predicted elsewhere.

TYCOON AIMS TO HALF HUGHES' GLOBAL RECORD

Equipped with latest radio-radar equipment, A-26, minus armed trappings, is fastest private plane.

IN AN EFFORT TO SKIRT THE WORLD in half the 91 hours, 14 minutes it took Howard Hughes in 1938, Milton Reynolds, Chicago ball-point fountain pen tycoon, will take off from LaGuardia Field, N. Y., at 12:11 a. m. April 5 in a converted Douglas A-26 attack bomber—the Reynolds Bombshell. Unable to secure permission to fly over Russia, 54-year-old Reynolds will fly 6,000 miles farther than Hughes' 14,824-mile trip, and will make six fuel-landings. Capt. William Odom, Roslyn, N. Y., will take turns at the controls with the millionaire and T. C. Sallee will be flight engineer.

WHOLE OF A JOB 25 Percent Of Closed Coal Mines May Re-open Monday

Navy and Coast Guard Argue Disposal of Grounded Mammal

(By Associated Press)
NORFOLK, Va., April 4.—Blackie, a stranded whale, oblivious of the tallow factory man with the gleam in his eye, churned the waters of Little creek today as the Navy and Coast Guard passed the buck to each other on who should dispatch the 80-foot mammal.

J. W. Field, vice president of the Norfolk Tallow Co., said he understood the Coast Guard would kill Blackie today and that he had hired a tug to tow the carcass to his plant for rendering for fats and oil.

However, Coast Guard spokesmen said "kill Blackie?—no indeed. Definitely no indeed. He's at the amphibious training base and that's Navy property."

Whose Job?

And the Navy spokesmen said "kill Blackie?—nothing doing. That's a job for the Coast Guard."

For a spell late yesterday the whale seemed to have solved the problem by taking the honorable way out. It lay still on a mud flat in a few feet of water where it came to rest about 200 yards offshore after negotiating the Little creek ferry channel from the depths of Chesapeake Bay. Its one eye above water was closed. A Navy officer declared: "The whale is dead."

But Blackie didn't recognize the finality of the Navy's statement. In the dark of the night the whale began spouting and churning the shallow between the two barnacle encrusted pilings where it came to rest.

"He's kicking like the dickens this morning," a sailor at the amphibious training base reported gleefully. He's turned about since last night and is now facing the channel. But he's hard aground and can't move further."

25 Percent Of Closed Coal Mines May Re-open Monday

At least 25 percent of the 518 bituminous mines closed by federal order as unsafe "are expected to be certified okay" before Monday—the end of a six-day mourning period by soft coal diggers—a Navy spokesman said today.

"We expect to certify some mines as safe late this afternoon and many more tomorrow," declared the officer.

"Each company operating an underground mine received orders from Washington (from the office of Interior Secretary J. A. Krug) on what to do in their particular pits," the spokesman asserted.

"When the operating manager of the mine and the United Mine Workers' safety committee declare the pit safe the Navy immediately certifies it as such."

The Navy spokesman insisted flatly "I don't expect all of the 518 mines declared unsafe to be operating on Monday."

"Some of the correction will be quite extensive and will take quite some time to repair adequately," he added.

The Navy is operating the mines for the government.

GIRL SCOUTS HELP IN FUND CAMPAIGN

To raise money for their part in the camp building fund, sponsored by Salem Girl Scout council, the troop members are conducting a house to house selling project. Mrs. W. E. Quillan, council chairman and campaign director announced today.

While the campaign has officially closed, the goal for $6,500 has not been reached, she said, although more than half has been subscribed.

The proposed improvements for Camp Merrydale, northwest of Salem, on the Seacrest rd., include a lodge 20 by 30 feet, built of rough hewn timber with a stone fireplace, equipped for a dining room and camp work; a year-round sleeping cabin with accommodations for eight; new tent floors, new sanitation, new kitchen equipment and a better road from the highway into the camp.

One Killed, 35 Hurt In Train Derailment

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, April 4.—One passenger was killed and about 35 persons were injured when the Burlington railroad's speeding Twin City Zephyr was derailed by a tractor and crashed into the railroad station at suburban Downers Grove last night.

The tractor had fallen off a westbound freight train that had just passed on an adjoining track and into the path of the stainless steel streamliner, eastbound from Minneapolis to Chicago.

The crash in a flash of flame and shower of falling bricks ripped up three sets of tracks nine miles east of Naperville, Ill., where 45 persons died last April 25 in a collision of two Burlington passenger trains.

Several eyewitnesses said they saw "a tremendous ball of fire" as the Zephyr left the rails.

Smashes Into Depot

The Diesel train, which the Burlington said was traveling at its usual 75 miles an hour clip through the suburb 21 miles west of Chicago, smashed into the side of the unoccupied brick depot, partially wrecking it.

Police said the crash occurred at 10:41 p. m. (CST) the Zephyr was due in Chicago at 11 p. m. It left Minneapolis at 4:10 p. m.

The dead passenger was identified by police as Lloyd W. Wright, 48, of Oak Park, Ill., a Chicago suburb. He was a salesman for the Philadelphia Quartz Co.

Most of the injured were taken to hospitals at nearby Hinsdale and Aurora. Three were reported in serious condition.

The Zephyr's engineer, Clarence Thurston, 67, of Aurora, Ill., was trapped in the cab. He was reported in serious condition.

Property damage of $50,000 was estimated by John P. Falk, Chicago division superintendent of the Burlington, who said some traffic was resumed early today through the wreck site.

Passengers on the Zephyr said the impact was severe and that most of them were lucky to escape serious injury. Many were college students and other Easter weekend vacationists.

MOLOTOV FEARS SPLIT GERMANY

Cites 'Danger' of American Plan For Political Program

(By Associated Press)
MOSCOW, April 4.—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov said today he saw a danger that American proposals for the political organization of Germany would lead to Germany's dismemberment.

Molotov made the statement in answer to questions submitted by Johannes Steel, an American writer and former radio commentator.

The Soviet minister also said it was his opinion that the results of such a development would give "German militarists and revanchists (revengers)" an opportunity to take the affairs of Germany into their own hands.

In the first official Soviet comment on President Truman's proposed aid to Greece, Molotov went on record with the declaration he doubted the plan would "restore democracy" in Greece.

The best way to restore democracy to Greece would be to do away with foreign intervention, Molotov commented.

The inference that Greece was no democracy at present was an assumption advanced by Steel, who put the question to Molotov in this way: "Do you believe that President Truman's proposed American policy on Greece will restore democracy to Greece?"

Molotov's declaration on Greece and other questions came in questions and answers put to him in writing by Steel who arrived in Moscow early in the conference of foreign ministers.

(The exchange was broadcast by the Moscow radio.)

Molotov stated a compromise was possible between Russia's proposal for a unified Germany and the United States plan for a federal Germany, if the questions could be decided by a German plebiscite.

CHICAGO, April 4.—A five-room foster home crowded with nine children was swept by flames today and two of the youngsters perished.

Seven other children suffered burns, and the proprietors, who boarded them for a weekly fee, were injured severely.

The State Welfare department launching an investigation, said the home had been licensed to care for only two and was warned Feb. 26 that it violated the law by housing more.

Firemen and policemen could not locate the parents of the children immediately.

John R. Ferguson, head of the children's services unit of the State Welfare department, said this type of foster home usually cared for children from broken homes or from working parents unable to find adequate living accommodations.

Infant Is Victim

The children ranged in age from 10 months to 12 years. The Welfare department said it had ordered the ages be restricted to 1 to 9 years.

The dead were identified as Princess Rogers, 9, and Barbara Ann Smyrtinger, 10 months.

Injured were Mrs. Vivian Thompson, 30, and her husband, Harold, 38, who operated the boarding home. Mrs. Thompson was reported in serious condition, while Thompson suffered only first degree burns.

In Mt. Carmel hospital: Kathleen Rogers, 12; Betty Thompson, 10; Estella Louise Thompson, 4; Nancy Lee Carnes.

In children's hospital: Robert Harold Thompson, one year, and Wanda Rogers, 4.

The other child reported burned was identified as Linda Daley.

Paper Drapes Are Ignited

All of the children burned, hospitals reported, are expected to recover. Mrs. Thompson suffered third-degree burns.

Thompson, an apprentice boiler-maker, said the fire started while he was kindling the heating stove in the front room of the five-room half of a double house.

As he shook the grates in the stove, he said, flames leaped out the door and ignited a rag he was holding. He started for the front door, and the burning rag ignited paper drapes which were consumed in one big "puff."

He ran upstairs, where his wife and the children were sleeping, shouting "get up, get up, the house is on fire," then broke out a bathroom window and jumped 15 feet to the ground, injuring one of his ankles.

Mrs. Thompson related that she and one of the children were asleep in one of the two upstairs bedrooms when her husband awakened her. The other youngsters were in the other bedroom.

Dropped From Window

She grabbed the youngster sleeping with her and went into the other bedroom and punched the other children to awaken them.

Then she dashed into the bathroom and began dropping the children out of the bathroom window to her husband below. She said she remembered saving five of the children in this manner.

The other two children were rescued by Patrolman Raymond McClain, who ran upstairs and grabbed the youngsters as they were nearly overcome by smoke.

An investigation of conditions at the home will be made by the State Welfare department, Miss Mary S. King, child welfare supervisor, said.

A Ridiculous Request

When Yugoslavia undertook to estimate the war damages due from Austria, it must have proceeded along the lines of the old-time army supply sergeant who reasoned: "Always requisition twice as much as you really want because you'll get half of what you order."

Yugoslavia asks $11,000,000,000 from Austria, which, of course, is ridiculous. Russia asks but $10,000,000,000 from Germany, which is 10 times larger than Austria and somewhat richer per capita. It's a safe guess that the total value of Austria, F.O.B. Vienna, isn't as much as what Yugoslavia asks.

The entire theory of war reparations is in need of overhauling. War has become such a debilitating venture that damages no longer are computable on a dollars-and-cents basis. Yugoslavia's request is the reduction to absurdity of the whole outworn procedure.

One Vote Did It

Observers had expected the bill to permit sale of colored oleomargarine would come to a vote in the state legislature this session, but the 5 to 4 unfavorable vote of the Senate commerce and labor committee virtually kills its chances.

That means Ohio consumers will have to continue mixing their own oleo, a messy job at best and one they would gladly leave to the processors.

The legislator who cast the deciding vote to table the bill originally was reported to have favored sending it to the Senate for a vote. He and the four others who voted against it probably have good and ample reasons for their action. Whatever their reasons, they have permanently alienated the oleo-mixer vote, a formidable segment of the population in these butter-short years.

Cases New Name

One of Ohio's distinguished educational institutions announces that it has changed its name from Case School of Applied Science to Case Institute of Technology. The school's officials decided its old name was somewhat outmoded.

For almost 70 years, Case has been one of Ohio's leading schools. Its graduates are the builders and technicians who have helped mold the sinews of modern America. Whatever the name of the school, the fact that they are "Case men" is recommendation enough when they offer their professional services.

Now Ohio has its C. I. T., just as Massachusetts has its M. I. T., although the initials must be used with caution when referring to Case. After all, Case doesn't finance the purchase of automobiles; that's the specialty of another C. I. T.—Commercial Investment Trust.

Peace Fatigue

It's a dull day any more when a psychiatrist, or some close relative, isn't telling someone in a loud, clear voice that more of us are potty than ever before and something should be done about it.

This is our suggestion for doing something about it: that instead of fussing around with fancy-Dan theories about what's wrong, we should face the cold, naked truth, the same being the existence of epidemic peace fatigue.

If more human beings are cracking up than should be cracking up, the cause undoubtedly is a relentless flood of adversity that is overtaxing their mental fiber. What shall we do about the atomic bomb, the Soviet Union, Greece, Turkey, Albania, Trieste, China, India, the islands in the Pacific, communism, high prices, bureaucracy, the housing shortage, juvenile delinquency, taxation, parking, safety in aviation, railroad incomes, sugar, potatoes, pork, the newspaper shortage? Will we survive? Will the bad wolf get the little pig? Tune in tomorrow and find out. Find in tomorrow and tune out... find tomorrow and... out... in... who... me... but... doctor... you... must... be... kidding.

Hitting The Sawdust Trail

Advance word from Chicago was that Martin H. Kennelly would run away from his Republican opponent in the election for mayor because the Cook county Democratic machine bossed by retiring Mayor Edward J. Kelly was still unbeatable. The advance word was correct.

Democrats from coast to coast can take hope. They see a rift in the dark clouds that blotted out their sunshine last November. If they can stop a Republican comeback in Chicago, they can do it elsewhere. They can use the Chicago plan, a model of simplicity.

It calls for nothing harder to do than put new facades on Democratic machines in Chicago, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Kansas City, St. Louis, Detroit and Jersey City. Don't be surprised if Democratic "reform" candidates come busting out all over, just like June.

In the meantime, President Truman and his helpers at the national policy level will be scrubbing diligently at the red taint that hurt the party last November. Voters will be reminded every hour on the hour that a Democratic administration is being tough with Communists.

This is good politics, part of the great game of appealing for votes by giving voters what they seem to want. The Republicans who hoped last fall that the Democratic party couldn't come back after its licking know now that its demise will not be that easy.

Democratic strength is based on party organizations in big cities. By carrying Chicago, Cleveland, New York, Detroit, St. Louis and Kansas City, the party carries Illinois, Ohio, New York state, Michigan and Missouri.

The average typist does more work in a day than the average ditch-digger, says a writer. A typewriter isn't so comfortable to lean on.

For Saturday, April 5

A CONTINUED obstruction of affairs, with much arrested or blocking of plans and programs, despite patient and persistent effort, makes it a day on which it might be well to make it a weekend for seeking relaxation and diversion, with personal compensations for conflicting and tricky affairs.

In any case the mentality seems unable to cope with overwhelming circumstances and would benefit by rest or spiritual solace and inspiration.

On the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of perplexities and problems, which the mind seems unable to unravel, despite a sincere and earnest marshalling of forces aimed at breaking up a state amounting to an impasse.

Tenacious attempts to batter down restrictions and obstacles may but aggravate the situation or turn the ideas into disintegrating channels. Maintaining the status quo might be the safest and wisest procedure. Find personal diversion.

A child born on this day may find his affairs so complicated, limited or restricted by strange or quixotic events as to feel indifferent toward solving riddles.

Can you imagine little Willie trying to explain how exemptions for dependents got into his home work example?

Errors In Raising Children

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
TODAY juvenile delinquency has reached an all-time peak in the United States. All sorts of things—the decay of the home, poverty, moral laxity—have been held to blame. And in part they are.

But the fact remains that much of the wrongdoing on the part of youngsters would never occur if parents would take the trouble to learn the proper methods of rearing their children.

And not only wrongdoing, but the emotional instability which causes so much unhappiness and may be entirely forestalled by correct handling during early childhood.

Serious Errors

According to Dr. Robert P. Knight of Topeka, Kansas, there are four things which lead parents into serious errors in bringing up their children.

The first is the idea that everybody knows enough about human nature to rear children if they just use common sense. But "common sense" is only the total of one's own experiences and misinformation.

The second fault is the tendency to try to rear children just as the parents themselves were reared or to swing to the opposite extreme. For example, if during their childhood the parents were treated in a strict manner they are likely to be overindulgent with their children and vice versa.

Of course, neither of these methods is a sound basis for bringing up youngsters.

Third Misconception

The third misconception is that children should be as little nuisance or trouble as possible. As a result, parents try to make the child into a little adult as quickly as possible. They want him to be docile, clean, quiet and obedient. Of course, attempts to make the child conform to these ideas only lead to resentment and misbehavior.

The fourth difficulty lies in the attempt on the part of parents to adopt each new idea that they hear concerning child rearing. So they jump back and forth from over-indulgence to strict discipline, and consequently the child only becomes confused and resentful.

Conditions Which Arise

As a result of these wrong ways of rearing children such things as lying, stealing, impudence and similar conditions arise. Most children under seven or eight years of age are unable to tell truth from fancy. Meeting the child's emotional problems and making the truth easy to tell are effective ways of overcoming this bad habit.

The same type of attitude should exist toward stealing. The stolen article should always be returned, if possible or, if not, paid for out of the child's allowance. The youngster must be taught what is meant by property rights but to warn the child of police and jail and to frighten him will do no good.

So-called impudence or talking back of course, should not be encouraged but a child should al-

Big Cities At Work
On Smoke Nuisance

(By United Press)
CHICAGO—At least 12 major cities are working to brighten their communities by eliminating smoke, the American Municipal Association reports.

The success of a smoke abatement program in St. Louis has stimulated other cities to bring clean air and light into crowded localities, the association says.

Before the campaign, St. Louis averaged more than 10 hours of thick smoke palls a year. In the first four months of the heating season this year, only two hours and 10 minutes of "moderate" palls were recorded.

The association said that air pollution in Chicago decreased 15 per cent in the past year with anti-smoke measures being enforced. Soot fall in Chicago used to average nearly 70 tons per square mile per month, the association said.

Cleveland doubled its staff of smoke inspectors last year and the association said considerable progress was made through better enforcement of the existing smoke code.

Projects for smoke control are being formulated in Detroit, Milwaukee, Los Angeles, Omaha, Pittsburgh, Richmond, New York, Providence, R. I., and Cincinnati.

The Universities of Cincinnati and Louisville are doing research on better ways to burn fuels, especially soft coal, to help municipal abatement programs.

State Rests Case In Brown Murder Trial

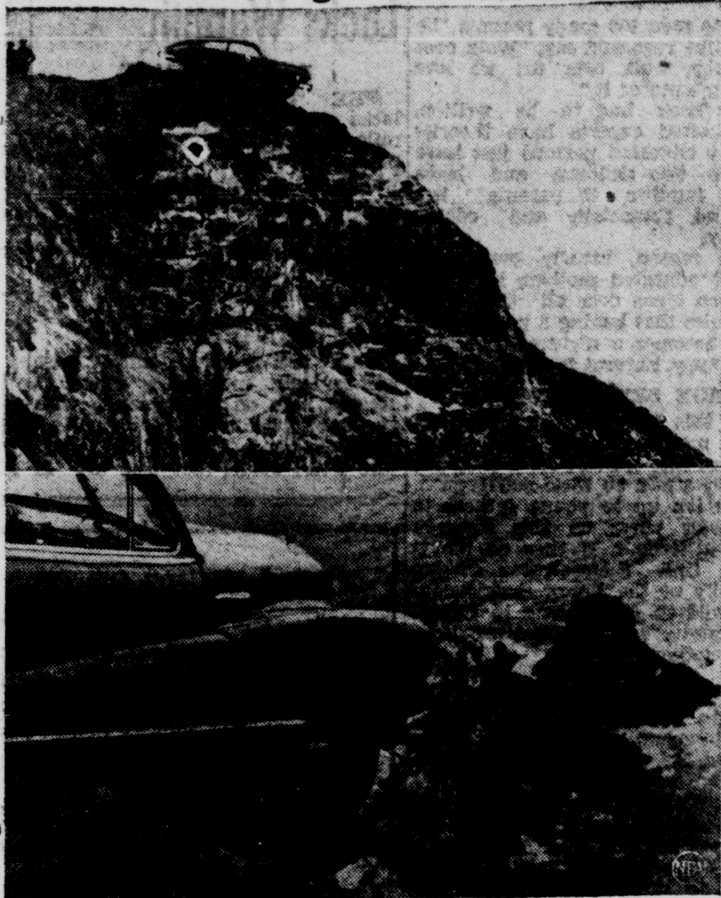

LISBON, April 4.—The state rested its case at noon today against Erwin A. Brown of Ironton, charged with a double murder in East Liverpool last Dec. 14, after the court had heard testimonies of Brown's 11-year-old son and two other relatives, indicating that he had taken a .38-calibre pistol from his home in Ironton on the day of the murder.

Brown's brother-in-law, Lee Grim, and father-in-law, William Grim, both of Ironton, told of seeing the defendant toying with the gun in his home a day before the crime. He allegedly made threatening statements regarding his wife, Beulah, who was murdered in Liverpool shortly afterward.

The defense will begin its case this afternoon, after which court will recess until Tuesday because of the grand jury opening scheduled on Monday.

Brown also is charged with shooting Brady Fetty.

Coshocton Foundry Is Swept By Fire

(By Associated Press)
COSHOCTON, April 4.—Coshocton's largest manufacturing plant, the James W. Clow & Sons foundry, was swept by flames early this morning, throwing about 450 men out of work.

Manager Thomas Ripley estimated damage at "more than a quarter million dollars."

The fire was discovered by a workman in the storekeeper's office of the 40-acre foundry and plant just south of the city. The firm makes cast iron pipe.

Ripley estimated it would be a month before the plant would be put back into operation.
It was the city's second quarter-million dollar fire within two months. The Park hotel was hit by the other costly blaze.

The Clow firm has headquarters in Chicago and plants in Newcomerstown, Birmingham, Ala., Waterford N. Y., and Oskaloosa, Ia.

YORK, Pa., April 4.—A spectacular fire with flames shooting 200 feet into the sky destroyed an 800-foot long structural steel plant here at an estimated loss of $350,000.

The blaze, which wrecked the main fabricating shop, storage sheds and two-story office building of the McGann Manufacturing Co., generated so intense a heat that all traffic on the Chicago-Washington Pennsylvania railroad lines 100 feet away was stopped for two hours.

★ WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT

The proud young father, on his way to a hospital to visit a brand-new mother, had better make two stops on the way—one for the traditional bouquet of flowers, the other for a newly-published book, "Doctor Has a Baby."

It is written by a doctor's wife who tossed baby books out the window when she brought her own first-born home from the hospital.

She has seen too many parents "lie down like rugs and say, 'Walk over us, baby, walk over us; we love every minute of it.'"

This book had to be written. Long-haired experts have theories on why educated persons just have one or two children and leave large families to parents less equipped financially and educationally.

One reason, usually overlooked, is that educated mothers have become so tense over all the child care rules that having a baby in the home becomes a nightmare instead of a happy, natural fact.

COMMON SENSE ATTITUDE

But this 28-year-old author, herself a mother of three, tells young mothers they needn't let a baby put a heavy strain on their marriage.

Now it's up to young fathers to sell their wives on this common sense attitude. If they do they'll never find themselves talking wistfully of the happy days before the children came along to turn a pert, pretty wife into a tired, haggard mother.

Edward Stefane, R. D. 1, Salem, went to Cleveland Thursday afternoon to spend the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stefane.

Mrs. D. W. Dick of Columbiana spent Thursday with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Atchison, Cleveland st.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heddleston, employees of the Lease Drug Co., returned Thursday night from Indianapolis, where they attended a druggist convention.

Amos Groner of Benton rd., who suffered a heart attack, is reported to be slightly improved.

Miss Charlotte Cranz of Akron, is a guest of Miss Leila Oertel, Damascus rd.

David Byers, student at Kiski prep school, Saltsburg, Pa., is spending the spring vacation with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Byers, E. State st.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. McCulloch of Highland ave. returned Thursday evening from a vacation trip to Fort Lauderdale and Lake Wales, Fla.

Sugary Smile Lacks Warmth

By ALICIA HART

THE "SUGARY SMILE" that lacks warmth and conviction and reflects a studied approach to people tops a list of feminine faults which model man, Walter Thornton, airs for the good of the cause.

Girls who aspire to greater beauty and charm will not only wipe off a sugary smile but a lip-stick job that makes a mouth look more voluptuous than nature intended says this expert.

This well-meaning critic also wishes that nice girls wouldn't greet a man on first meeting with an endearing "honey" or "darling."

He is irked, he says, by girls who won't admit that they are at fault when they fail to get a job or assignment. "Nicest frankness in the world," Thornton says, "is that of the girl who admits her shortcomings. Admission is also the first constructive step in remedying faults."

Would you also like to know the dress faults that irk Mr. Thornton? Here are two: One is wearing a snood on the head so that hair looks as though it hangs in a bag. Another is the too-revealing sweater.

Bilbo Not Expected Back In Senate For Some Time

WASHINGTON, April 4—Theodore G. Bilbo won't be back to claim his seat as senator this year unless congress stays in session longer than planned. Attorney Forrest Jackson predicted today.

visior, said the Mississippi Democrat still faces two operations on his ailing jaw, each followed by six weeks for healing if all goes well.

Republican leaders plan for congress to wind up in July. If it continues in session Bilbo "may be back the latter part of August or in September to present himself," Jackson told a reporter.

Meanwhile Bilbo will continue to draw his $12,500 a year salary.

DISCOVER A LEPROSY CURE?

TESTING their discovery are three of the five scientists in Detroit who have found a new drug, promin, one of the sulfones, which has been successful in treating leprosy. Looking for a weapon to use against tuberculosis, the scientists (from left), Dr. L. A. Sweet, Leonard Daub and L. L. Bambas, developed promin, and last month saw 19 patients discharged from the leper colony at Carville, La., as cured following the promin treatment. (International)

House Leader Confident Of Republicans' Unity

WASHINGTON, April 4—House Majority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said today Democrats are whistling in the dark if they think Republican lines in the house have cracked or even weakened.

Democrats claim that the end of GOP cohesion on economy, at least, came when the house sharply boosted the totals in an appropriation bill Tuesday, but Halleck said in an interview the Republican majority will stick together when it really are going to do it and I'm not counts. "We have a job to do and we do it," he said.

PLAN COLUMBIANA ALUMNI REUNION

COLUMBIANA, April 4—A proposal to hold a reunion in June was discussed at a meeting Tuesday evening of the Columbian High School Alumni association. Of late years the association has been holding a reunion every five years, and if one is held this year, it would mark the 65th anniversary of the school's commencement in 1881. No class was ready in 1882, and the second commencement was held in 1883.

Another meeting will be held next Wednesday at 8 in Room 1 of the high school building. New officers will be elected.

Carnegie Class Meets

The former Dale Carnegie class met Tuesday evening in the public speaking and human relations met Wednesday evening in the hall and having not yet effected a permanent organization, the same committees were continued until the next meeting, which will be held at the same place the second week in May.

Lieut. Comdr. Jervace L. Crouse of the Columbian, now stationed at the U. S. Naval hospital, Bethesda, Md., has begun her second tour of duty after having spent a few days leave with her mother, Mrs. Nettie Crouse, S. Main st.

First Class Donald H. Kurtz, who has been stationed at Chanute field, Ill., yesterday concluded a few days' leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Kurtz of Columbian, and accompanied by his wife, the former Wanda Sheets, left for Williams Field, Ariz., where he has been transferred.

11 SENATORS FLY TO CAIRO MEETING

WASHINGTON, April 4—An 11-man congressional group headed by Senate Minority Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) is flying today to Cairo to attend the interparliamentary session which opens Monday.

Others in the delegation, which left Washington National airport at 9:15 p. m. (EST) last night in an army four-engine C-54 transport plane, included Senators Brewster (R-Maine), Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Hatch (D-NM); and Reps. Short (R-Mo), Vorys (R-Ohio), Talle (R-Iowa), Anton Johnson (R-Ill.),oley (D-NC), Kefauver (D-Tenn.), and Page (D-Tex.).

They expected to reach Casablanca shortly before noon after a stop at Bermuda, and may visit Rome en route. They are due to arrive in Cairo tomorrow afternoon.

Phone Strike Bill

It was dark for our first two observations. Ahead I could see nothing but a wall of clouds. It was not yet dawn, but there was enough light to see the mammoth swells under us. To the right I could make out a small break in the clouds which indicated morning.

We rode our 500-foot course some 500 miles. Winstead and Lt. Lawrence J. Connors, of Jamaica, L. I., N. Y., student weather observers, were making constant weather observations. Lt. Thomas V. Cronin, Boston, the navigator, figured wind direction and force. These observations, with visual checks on the clouds, gave a complete picture of the weather.

The radiomen dot-and-dashed the observations back to Stephenville. From that point the figures went into the international weather network. For all stations in the Atlantic area in Canada and the United States, the information was another bit in the jigsaw puzzle.

CHAIRMAN of the House Labor Committee, Rep. Fred A. Hartley

(R-N. J.), is shown in his Washington office after introducing a bill to end off the threatened strike of 7,000 telephone workers, set for April 7. The bill seeks to block the picket through use of government function.

A Ride With Men Who Pave Daily Air Roads Over Ocean

By NEA Service

ABOARD A B-17 OVER THE NORTH ATLANTIC—Rain, sleet and snow are lashing at the plexiglass nose. The plane is tossed in bumpy air.

We have just struck a front, only 100 miles from our destination at Meeks Field, Iceland. The storm is right where base weather back at Stephenville, Newfoundland, had figured it would be.

There is no mistake in our position. We are here deliberately, as part of the flight plan. And I am here as the first newspaperman to fly a weather mission over the North Atlantic.

It is the ship's job to fly into weather so that commercial and military craft may know "road conditions" on North Atlantic air lanes. Without this work, commercial airlines would have a rough go to maintain trans-ocean schedules. The B-17 is operated by the 53rd Reconnaissance squadron, the U. S. Army's pioneer weather-checking air outfit.

Going along on official orders with the 53rd, I had been watching this crew for nearly 10 hours in our 2000-mile dog-leg mission to Iceland. It is fascinating business.

10 Regular Tracks

Aerial weather reconnaissance over the Atlantic—in effect maintaining weather stations 100 miles apart over the open water—is conducted solely by the 53rd.

The squadron's work is an outgrowth of secret weather experimental flights started at Madison, Wis., in the summer of 1943. Flight B, this one, is based at Harmon field, Stephenville, Nfld., and now covers the area toward Greenland, Iceland and Bermuda. It flies any one of 10 regular tracks selected by the base weather office.

Flight C, based at Lagens on the island of Terceira, Azores, covers 360 degrees around the Portuguese islands. Flight A, better known as the "Hurricane Hunters," is specifically assigned to tracking the big winds in the Caribbean from its base at Morrison field, Fla. The squadron's own headquarters are now also at Morrison.

Flight B wrote Arctic history last fall by running interference for the Russian Dreamboat along a route from northeast Baffinland, over the Greenland ice cap and Iceland nearly to Scotland.

We had pulled our wheels off the Stephenville runway at 6 o'clock in pitch darkness and crossed Newfoundland at 5,000 feet, passing over the lights of the big commercial airport at Gander. A few miles further we hit the coast, our last sight of land for nearly nine hours.

We asked control radio at St. Johns for permission to drop to 500 feet—operational altitude for the first leg of the mission—as soon as we could make out the ocean.

Lt. Leonard Winstead of Hardy, Ark., the weather observer, talked the pilot down to exactly 500 feet, using the absolute altimeter.

Wall of Clouds

It was dark for our first two observations. Ahead I could see nothing but a wall of clouds. It was not yet dawn, but there was enough light to see the mammoth swells under us. To the right I could make out a small break in the clouds which indicated morning.

We rode our 500-foot course some 500 miles. Winstead and Lt. Lawrence J. Connors, of Jamaica, L. I., N. Y., student weather observers, were making constant weather observations. Lt. Thomas V. Cronin, Boston, the navigator, figured wind direction and force. These observations, with visual checks on the clouds, gave a complete picture of the weather.

The radiomen dot-and-dashed the observations back to Stephenville. From that point the figures went into the international weather network. For all stations in the Atlantic area in Canada and the United States, the information was another bit in the jigsaw puzzle.

Household Hints

If your porcelain enamel teakettle gathers a light scale or sediment along the bottom and sides, to remove boil one quart of water to which has been added a teaspoonful of soda and allow the solution to remain in the kettle for a few minutes.

To give that extra sparkle to mirrors and windows after washing and wiping dry, rub the surface with crumpled tissue paper.

which, fitted together, makes a weather map.

At the end of the low run we climbed to 10,000 feet, taking a "sounding" at the same time. We made recordings of wind, temperature, and altitude as we climbed, charting the same information ground weather stations get by releasing weather balloons.

Just before sunset we dropped back to the wave-skipping level and found the front.

And we are hitting Meeks right on schedule. We were pounding along under the overcast when suddenly I could see lights below. And here ahead is Iceland.

Artist Turns Into Clever Cut-Up; Makes Profit, Too

(By United Press)
NEW YORK — Landes Lewitin, artist, has just sold some scraps of paper, pasted together on a piece of laundry cardboard for a neat $600.

Lewitin's one-man show, at the Egan Gallery, is giving Manhattan art lovers their biggest thrill since the advent of Salvador Dali.

"But with me, it is always beauty," explained Lewitin, who was born in the valley of the Nile, "while with Dali, it is mostly shock."

Lewitin, a slow-talking, brown-haired man in his fifties, uses a pair of scissors, a pot of paste, and clipped bits of color from magazines, to form his picture.

"I snip my colors from anything that catches my eye."

Called Collage
Then he pastes the scattered bits together on the laundry cardboard until they turn up as a completed painting—called a collage.

This is Lewitin's first public showing of 16 collages, although he completed them about six years ago. "It is the first time anyone has done it in color," he said. "Some did it in black and white."

"Picasso did it in an abbreviated form, but I am the first to do a complete picture."

Charles Egan, manager of the gallery, appeared a little dazed.

"Artists are wild about them," he said. "You see, these were completed six years ago. There are only about 20 collages in the entire world."

"Artists fill my gallery all day long and they all wish to paint the collages."

Better than that (from Egan's point of view), three have been sold, and the show just opened. The prices range from $200 to $600.

"We'll sell them all within a few days," Egan said. "You can't do that well with orthodox paintings."

Asked if he planned to do any more collages, Lewitin—who also is an expert in oils—shrugged and replied:

"Every time that I began one of these, I always said it would be my last. Who knows? An artist never knows what he will do next."

A visiting artist irritated Lewitin by saying he planned to make some collages that were much larger than those on exhibit.

"His may be larger," Lewitin said, "but mine will be the best."

"Picasso did it in an abbreviated

Flashes Of Life

CLAYTON, N. M.—A kick-back broke Paul Miller's leg. The young Seneca rancher said he kicked an old bull to hurry him into a corral. The bull kicked back.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Seven-year-old Allison Brown wore her mother's $200 diamond and sapphire ring to school to show it to her young friends, but it was missing when she got home. Police and Boy Scouts searched for it until Allison's mother, Mrs. B. Gatz Brown, reported everything had turned out all right. She found the ring in the lining of Allison's coat.

LAWTON, Okla.—There's a little good in the worst of us, Tommy Ashmore believes.

A thief broke into his barber and beauty supply house and took about $100 in cash and checks, but left a $10 bill along with a note saying: "I stole your money but didn't have the heart to keep it all."

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Clyde Wilcox of Lexington finally received a radio set for his airplane although it meant giving up $304,000 to get it. Wilcox was awaiting patiently the arrival of the set from a Grand Rapids, Mich., firm. In its place came $304,000 in checks and a deposit slip made out in the company's name to a Chicago bank.

Wilcox phoned the company. There was a slight mistake, he told a startled executive.

A few hours later company officials flew to Lexington to claim the deposit and to deliver to Wilcox the long-awaited radio set.

Feel Lucky? Bet On No. 2 LOUISVILLE, Ky.—If you want to play a hunch, you might put your money on No. 2 in the 1947 Kentucky Derby May 3.

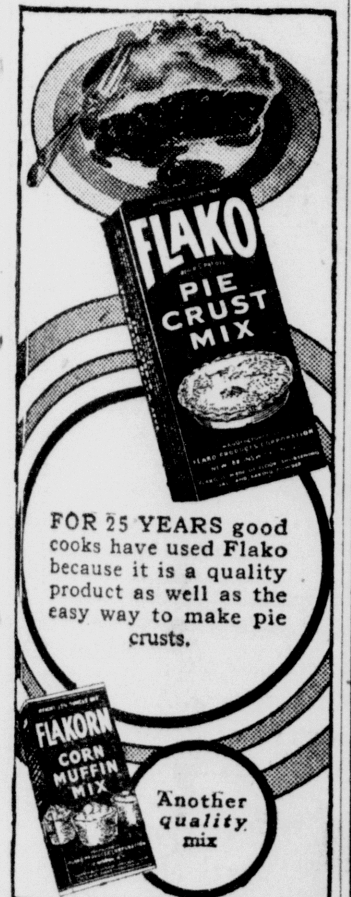

You won't know the name of the horse for the No. 2 post position until the day before the race. But that's the number Assault wore in winning last year, and winning numbers have shown an amazing tendency to run in pairs since 1900.

It was No. 3 in 1900-01; No. 4 in 1902-03; No. 5 in 1911-12-13; No. 8 in 1916-17; No. 1 in 1937-38, and No. 5 again in 1943-44. In the last 46 years, nine winners have started from box No. 5 and seven each from No. 1 and No. 4. No. 13 has won once, but only once. That was in 1932.

Learning Ability

Ability to learn increases up to the age of 22, remains constant until 35, is still high at 50, but drops sharply after 70 or 80, according to an eminent professor.

The wheel tracks of old Roman carts were used to determine the standard American and British railway gauge in Britain some 2000 years ago.

ABINGTON, Mass.—When 12-year-old Danny Lynch wrote to the "Washington Senators," Washington, D. C., for a picture of the American League baseball team, the letter was delivered, by error, to Senator Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

Baby's Formula Placed On Milk Route Service

NEWTON, Mass.—Two former army nurses have entered a unique business—providing ready-made formulas for babies of busy mothers. With the help of a GI loan, Misses Elizabeth M. Clark and H. Phyllis Burns began a "babies' milkman service" that provides individual formulas to mothers, doctors, obstetricians and small hospitals.

The service is complete—the two girls care for everything from the formula down to the rubber nipples. Parents subscribing to the service don't even have to buy bottles, the nurses prepare individual formulas, fill the bottles and deliver a 24-hour supply in a refrigerated beach wagon to the customers.

Englishwoman Finally Changes Irish Name

SPOKANE, Wash.—An 82-year-old English woman has gotten rid of her Irish name, O'Connor, which she has resolutely carried for 50 years.

She told Judge Carl Quackenbush she put off marrying her late husband for two years because she did not like the name and that she had been mistaken for an Irishwoman ever since.

The court did not hesitate giving her back her maiden name of Elizabeth Jane Cook, especially after it learned that she already had it engraved on her tombstone.

Texas Chickens First To Invade Antarctic

WACO, Tex.—Irving L. Bush, who has chicken hatcheries here and at Clinton, Mo., hardly can wait for the Ronne Antarctic expedition to set up camp in the land of perpetual ice and snow to find out how his chickens will fare.

Five white Leghorn hens and one rooster were taken by Comdr. Finn Ronne when he set sail from Beaumont, Tex., on an 18-month scientific expedition to the Antarctic. As far as anyone knows, these chickens are the first to head alive for the South Pole.

Bush is anxious to find out whether the hens will lay any eggs in the Antarctic and whether chickens hatched in sub-zero temperatures will thrive.

Boyle's COLUMN

BY HAL BOYLE

OCRACOCKE, N. C.—Ocracoke island, a 16-mile-long curve of sand some 19 miles off the North Carolina mainland, is a "poor man's Bermuda" where wild ponies dig their own wells and a woman once lived to be 117 years old.

It is a timeless isle where money means little and a man has to think hard to find anything to worry about. There are really only three things to do here—fish, hunt ducks and geese or just sit and listen to an everlasting wind push the sea against the sand with a muffled "flap, flap, flap."

Some wealthy people spend a lot of travel money just to come here to do these things—which the island's population of 700 enjoys free.

The world washed by Ocracoke during the war between the states. Before that it had been notorious pirate hangout, a focal point of operation for shore wreckers—some of whom made a business of luring ships into reefs, and an important port of entry.

Now it is a peaceful, bypassed fishing village. You don't have to buy a state automobile license because there is only one small concrete road, built by the Navy. But it doesn't go anywhere.

There are no police and no jails. The island was peopled by pirates and shipwrecked sailors, but there hasn't been a murder for more than one hundred years.

"A couple of the boys act up occasionally," said C. F. Boyette, manager of the village hotel, "but it's worth the trouble to go over to the mainland and swear out a warrant."

There is no housing shortage on Ocracoke, no doctor, no streetcars, no saloons or drug stores, no race problems.

The one negro family on the island has been there for three generations. Its members attend the white church and school and are well liked.

There is a legend that the pirate Blackbeard named the island. To elude pursuers, he is reported to have exclaimed, "Oh, crow cock!" earlier sea charts, however, listed the island as Ocracoke—so the story is plain tourist ocracoke and bull, so to speak.

The two chief island families—the Howards and the Wahabs—are descended from William Howard, a quartermaster for Blackbeard who escaped hanging, and Ahab Wahab, an Arab sailor washed ashore in the 18th century. The families are deeply intermingled. "Everybody on this island is just a little related—if you could trace it back," said one old resident.

The islanders are ruggedly independent and retain vestiges of the speech of Elizabethan England. They are friendly and courteous to outsiders but unimpressed by "important people."

Every Fourth of July they pen and brand colts of the score or two of wild ponies which roam the marshes. The animals paw shallow wells in the sand to get water and lie down to drink it. Nobody yet has been able to teach them to sip through a straw.

Crowded Bus Rider Tells Riders What He Thinks

HOUSTON, Tex.—A Houston construction worker, tired of riding crowded buses every day, decided to try out his guaranteed right of free speech. He told a bus-load of passengers that crowded buses were driving him wild.

"The only difference between the Houston Transit Company and a sardine factory is that a sardine factory knows when to quit packing them in," he orated.

The bus driver filed charges of disturbing the peace. Judge Cleo Miller—probably a bus rider himself—smiled and sent the man on his way without fining him.

DEPARTMENT OF CAGE CAPERS

If you're one of those ardent basketball fans who get a whole of a kick out of watching the best in the game in action, reserve a few nights next week for just that.

For the 13th year Joe Kelley, amiable director is bringing local fans his independent basketball tournament, starting Monday and running through Saturday night.

Joe's tournament, long ago famous as "The Little City Tourney," has expanded out of the little city class and is now open to any interested Class A team. Annually the best turn out for the affair here and always some of the most well known cagers of the tri-state area show their talents before a jammed house at the building.

Now that the war time transportation and manpower worries are over the tournament should again regain the polish and class that it produced before 1941.

Ray Reasbeck, for years the No. 1 Class A official here, is again doing the assisting chores for Kelley and probably will take a hand at the whistle tooting duties also.

The event is back to normal—and like everything else in a sports way here, seems to be suffering from growing pains this year!

DEPARTMENT OF INFORMATION

Just for those who may be wondering, the Salem Boosters club banquet for the basketball team isn't forgotten. Behind the scenes plans are progressing for the event, although the date and the speaker are not yet decided upon.

Coach Bob Miller originally had hoped that Pitt's Doc Carlson, one of the legendary figures in basketball coaching ranks, would speak here. But Carlson, a hard man to secure, can't fit his dates to Salem.

The banquet committee is currently trying to line up Adolph Rupp, probably the nation's No. 1 basketball coach. Rupp, as you probably know, is the tutor of the Kentucky basketball boys who rated the headlines all season long as the best in the business.

As soon as a definite reply is available from Rupp, the date of the affair will be set and further plans made. The Boosters are planning a big night for the best Salem High cage team in nearly 20 years.

Martin "Peanuts" Debnar, Marty Polder and Dutch Hoppes are on the committee formulating the banquet program.

Kentucky Coach Tosses Answer To Fesler's Cry

CLAIMS BOYS SHOULD GET EDUCATIONS

Fesler's Worry Over South Invading Ohio Not As Severe As Pro Worry

(By Associated Press)

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 4—Kentucky Football Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant, answering an attack on southern football by Ohio State's Wes Fesler, observed today that the south, through its above-the-board scholarships, was setting free the "athletic slaves" of the north.

Fesler declared that "southern school agents are among us constantly," and called upon Ohio athletes to weigh carefully offers made by schools of the south.

Bryant said he was amused by Fesler's lack of interest in the players he was losing to professional football as compared to his great concern over southern scouts shaking the Ohio bushes.

"He doesn't seem to mind too much if his players give up their education to play for pay, but he is plenty mad if a boy is inclined to trade his football ability for an education," Bryant added.

The young mentor declared players had a right to expect their education in return for the high salaries of coaches and the big stadiums their playing was financing.

"I contend that our system of scholarships provides the only legitimate way some athletes can get an education and still play football. It guarantees the opportunity to get an education in exchange for his football ability," he said.

Pitching Suddenly Becomes Indians Headache

Feller's Arm Worries Tribe; Infield Great

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—When Lou Boudreau sent Johnny Price home for turning two five-foot snakes loose on a crowded coach train, he said: "This is a big league club, not a traveling circus."

With young Bill Veck running the works, Manager Boudreau would have a tough time proving that. Price and Max Patkin are not the only clowns drawing Cleveland pay.

The Indians accomplished little more during their protracted stay in Tucson than stir up an inter-league war with Florida about the climate.

The Tribe has been strong in the pitching department since Robert William Andrew Feller launched his spectacular career. A year ago great things were expected from the pitchers headed by Feller, Gromek, Reynolds and Embree. But pitching suddenly has become a problem on the shore of Lake Erie. It right now can be classed as nothing more than mediocre.

That's bad enough. Making things worse is a weak offense. The catching is good, the infield could be great, the outfield is erratic.

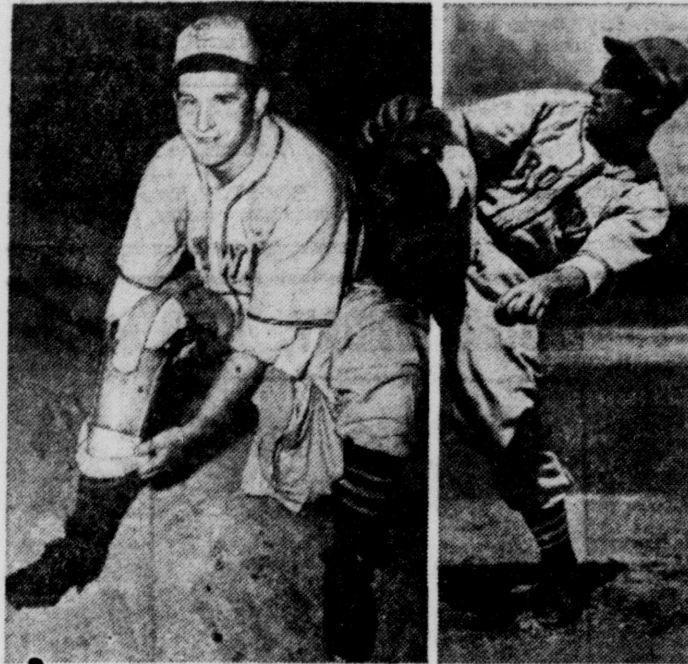

FINISHING higher than fourth would be a minor miracle. Fifth is more like it, which would be a step ahead of last year. President Veck will make enough changes to beat out the White Sox and Senators and the Athletics don't count. The Indians are off to a poor start with a losing streak in exhibition games.

Joe Gordon apparently has made the infield, and would help immeasurably by throwing a good year. The Oregon Special could give the outfit an added punch as well as defensive skill at second base.

Boudreau, of course, is the American League's Mr. Shortstop. Ken Keltner as good as there is at third base. On first base, the six-foot two-and-a-half-inch, 205-pound Eddie Robinson beat a leg injury to become the most valuable player in the International League. Eddie Bockman, who batted 303 for Kansas City last year, and Jack Conway are utility infielders.

American League Final Playoffs
Pittsburgh 3, Hershey 2 (best-of-seven series tied, 1-1).

Carrying On

Edwards Out Of An Outfield That Is Weak

HANK EDWARDS dislocating his shoulder was a blow to an already weak outfield. The only savage to hit more than 300 last trip is not expected to be ready before May 1. The Tribe's outfield at the outset probably will be composed of Dale Mitchell, Seery and either Peck or Mackiewicz.

Pat Seery swats the sphere a fair piece, but not often enough.

He paced the aggregation last year with 25 home runs, but tied King Kong Keller of the Yankees by striking out 117 times, batted no more than .225. The lone bright spot in the gardens at the moment is Mitchell, who batted 337 for Oklahoma City of the pitchers' league that is the Texas, impressed Strategist Boudreau after joining the Indians late last season.

JIM HEGAN is a first-rate young catcher, but has been of little help at the plate. Al Lopez remains an active gent at 38, hit 307 in 56 games with the Pirates in 1946. Tom Jordan is the third man.

With the exception of Feller, Embree and dean Harder, the pitching staff is composed of a lot of guys named Joe. Allie Reynolds went to the Yankees, you will recall, for Joe Gordon.

Bob Feller has been shelled in exhibition games. Rapid Robert traces his early difficulties to the dry air of Tucson, but a number of schooled observers express the opinion that the Iowa Farm Boy took a lot out of his matchless arm pitching out of turn establishing the strikeout record last season for no reason at all and then unwisely working night after night on a barnstorming tour.

EVEN with Feller as overworking as ever, which he probably will be, Boudreau and his right hand bower, Bill McKechnie, will have a tough time finding four starters.

Red Embree has a lot of stuff, undoubtedly will be No. 2. Gettel, Gromek, Wolff, Black, Lemon and Bob Kuzava, a southpaw who won 14 and lost 6 for Wilkes-Barre of the pitching league that was the Class A Eastern last season, are fighting for the other starting berths. Steve Gromek's 5-15 record of last year was a tremendous disappointment.

Harder, Poat, Kileman and left-handers Gene Bearden and the vet-

Junior AMVETS Lose In Sharon Tourney

Salem's only representative in the Sharon Amateur basketball association tournament, the Junior AMVETS, were eliminated Thursday night by the Pittsburgh Pierce club in a see-saw battle 36-33.

The game saw first one team and then the other take the lead for short periods of time, with Pittsburgh holding the margin when the game ended.

The Salem ladies led 6-2 at the quarter, but fell back to a tie at halftime. They managed a one point lead following the third period, but the Pierce club pumped in 10 to their six in the final to win.

Francis Lanney again led the scoring with 12 points, while Norm Smith racked up nine.

Salem had won its first two games in the tournament, which is limited to boys 19 years and under.

FILCHOCK, HAPES SUSPENDED FROM FOOTBALL BY BELL

Commissioner Makes Time "Indefinitely", Which May Mean Forever

PHILADELPHIA, April 4—The door barring Merle Hapes and Frank Filchock from professional football—probably forever—swung shut today.

Square-jawed Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, in the most far-reaching ruling in the annals of the pro gridiron game, suspended them indefinitely for their roles in the attempted fix of last year's championship game.

Bell admitted the decision was a "tough one to make," but said the New York Giants' backfield stars were found guilty of "actions detrimental to the welfare of the National Football League and of professional football."

College Students Mix Studies, Businesses

MEADVILLE, Pa. — The character of part-time student jobs is changing at Allegheny college.

Vanishing are the days of off-campus jobs in bowling alleys and filling stations. Instead, today's student body includes a partner in a taxi service, a restaurant manager and a used-car dealer. Another student and his wife are tutors and chauffeurs to the youngsters at a nearby orphan's home.

But a student who graduated in the mid-year class solved his college expenses with the most unusual job of all. He sold cemetery lots.

Hobo King Davis Deplores Chip-on-Shoulder Attitude

AITONA, Pa. — Jeff Davis, King of the Hobos of America, predicted here that "if the people of the world don't co-operate they are going to evaporate."

Davis, wearing one of his favorite plaid flannel shirts, said, "It's no wonder lumber is scarce—too many people with chips on their shoulders."

The graying veteran of the road, although troubled with failing eyesight, is planning a lobbying campaign for super-highways, wide and smooth enough for helicopters to take off and land.

SHIFT TELEPHONE TALKS TO CAPITAL

AS THREAT of national telephone strike deepens, top union and telephone company officials have moved into Washington, D. C., from New York to participate in conferences aimed at halting April 7 walkout of 287,000 workers in 39 affiliates of the National Federation of Telephone Workers in support of $12 weekly pay boost demand. At the Labor department (from left), George S. Dring, assistant vice president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.; William Margolis, federal labor conciliator, and John J. Moran, head of the long lines workers, get their heads together. (International)

They Sideswiped

Just outside Durant, Okla., two Missouri-Kansas-Texas engines lie amid twisted rails after the Texas Special passenger train (engine at right) sideswiped a freight (engine at left), which was backing onto a siding. The passenger engineer was killed.
